A LESSON FROM JAPAN.

Apologists for the vile resort at Iwilei have "pointed with pride" to the Yoshiwara in Japan and cited the Japanese system of police control of the social evil as one Hawaii ought to pattern after. In fact the stockade at Iwilei is after the pattern of the Japanese Yoshiwara and great stress has been laid, by the defenders of this foul blot on our fair city, upon the perfect control Japan has of the social evil and of the benefit to that country by this exercise of police protection and government control.

Mrs. S. N. Castle, than whom there is no more earnest Christian woman and Christian worker anywhere, one who devotes her time and her money to the uplifting of mankind, sends us the following from the Missionary Review of the World, for February, 1901:

"MORAL REFORM IN JAPAN.
Thanks to the efforts of an American missionary in Nagoya by the name of Murphy, to the Hon. S. Shimada, a Christian politician, and to other influential Japanese, and, perhaps most of all—to its credit, be it added—to the Japanese press, there has been a tremendous social agitation over the question of licensed prostitution. Dramatic results have followed close upon the heels of drastic measures. New police regulations now make it possible for the inmates of houses of legalized vice, hitherto hopeless slaves, to leave at their option. Christian reformers have freed at least 40 such unfortunates during the past two months, and the papers report that during the 42 days in the one city of Tokyo, 429 contracted prostitutes voluntarily left their life of shame, and that suicide, formerly very frequent among this class of women, has practically ceased."

Shall it continue to be said that the Territory of Hawaii shows far less of the Christian civilization of the Nineteenth Century than semi-civilized Japan in its efforts to destroy legalized vice? What a spectacle we afford to our American neighbors that this fair Territory legalizes vice and throws the protecting arm of the government around it. Indeed it is time for all the moral and Christian sentiment of the community to unite against this evil.

SALARIES OF OFFICIALS CONTRASTED.

In the estimates of expenses for the next two years Governor Dole places the salaries of the heads of departments as follows:

Governor (paid by U. S.)	$5,000
Private Secretary (pd. by U. S.)	2,000
Sec'y of Territory (pd. by U. S.)	3,000
Chief Clerk (to be pd. by Terr'y)	1,800
Auditor	2,600
Deputy	2,400
Treasurer	4,500
Deputy or Register of Pub. Accts	2,700
Supt. Public Instruction	4,500
Deputy or Secretary	2,100
Attorney General	4,500
Deputy	3,000
Supt. of Public Works	4,500
Asst. Supt. of Public Works	3,000
Chief Clerk of Public Works	2,700

To show how enormously high these salaries are it is but necessary to compare them with the salaries paid State officials in the great State of Iowa. Iowa has a population of 1,911,896 according to the last census while her assessable wealth is more than seven times that of Hawaii. Yet the people of Iowa do not believe it necessary to pay State officials such enormous salaries as are paid to Territorial officials in Hawaii. The salaries of State officials in Iowa are as follows:

Governor	$3,000
Private Secretary	1,200
Secretary of State	2,200
Deputy	1,200
Auditor	2,200
Deputy	1,200
Treasurer	2,200
Deputy	1,200
Supt. Public Instruction	2,200
Deputy	1,200
Attorney General	1,500

And it can be said that despite these salaries the people of the State of Iowa find no difficulty in securing men to fill the various offices. There is no dearth of timber for the Attorney General's office at $1,500 a year nor is there any difficulty in securing men to fill the very responsible position of Treasurer or Superintendent of Public Instruction at $2,200 per year each. In view of these salaries paid by an old and rich State like Iowa the question very naturally arises why should Hawaii pay the exorbitant salaries recommended in the Governor's estimates.

WILLIAM A. HENSHALL.

The too-short span of his life among us was builded in the full light of day. Candid, honorable and loyal, his relations with his fellow-men and professional brethren begot such genuine friendships as vouch for the sincerity of the common grief at his pathetic end. Nay! not the end, for life does not go down to oblivion and the dark waters cannot withhold from kindred and friends the precious privilege of loving remembrance.

Still looking towards life's meridian he gave to his chosen calling the industry, honesty and ability of a mind singularly devoted to faithful performance of his duty. His demeanor, at all times gravely courteous, wore an indefinable charm that drew to him the hearts of men and many eyes are dim today, that they shall look upon him no more.

The stricken ones at home! the sacred grief of widow and child touch our lips with the seal of silence. He bequeathed to them the heritage of a manly life and its memory will not fade in all the years to come.

There are sweet flowers in every human heart and the invisible fingers that count the pulse of men's souls have woven for the departed friend memorial garlands that will not wither.

JUDGE GEORGE D. GEAR.

The appointment of George D. Gear, of the Honolulu bar, to fill the vacancy in the office of Second Judge of the First Circuit created by the resignation of the Hon. R. D. Silliman, will be hailed with intense satisfaction by all classes of citizens. Mr. Gear has for the past five years occupied an enviable position at the Hawaiian bar as an earnest, diligent, able and honorable practitioner. His record as a lawyer, as a man and as an enthusiastic party worker is above reproach. Judge Gear was endorsed for the high and honorable position in which he has been placed by the discriminating judgment of the President, by three-fourths of the Honolulu bar and by a majority of the solid, substantial business men of the community, representing its every interest and opinion of party, although some of the corporate interests were arrayed against him, as were certain free-booters, and lick spittles of that small coterie headed by Dole and driven by Thurston. That Judge Gear's administration of justice will be able, fearless and impartial and that his judicial career will be a distinguished one, goes without saying.

What with "special commissioner" Haywood and "administration agent" Brown in Washington we fail to see why the Dole-Thurston crowd failed to knock down that judgship plum. What were these two worthies doing in Washington that they allowed it to get away from them?

Salaries in all the public offices in Hawaii are twice what they ought to be. All salaries of public officials in this Territory must come down.

Should Have Swept Him Out.

From the Maui News.
Imprimis, the lower house of the legislature made entirely too much fuss about Secretary Cooper. Instead of introducing a formal resolution of expulsion, Beckley should simply have asked the house to instruct the sergeant-at-arms to order the janitor to sweep Mr. Cooper out and throw him in the waste basket, as would have been done in any legislature in the States. Had it been necessary for Secretary Cooper to have a seat on the floor of the house in order to get the "proceedings," common courtesy should have prompted him to ask for the privilege, which would doubtless have been granted him. But when ever an outsider claims a right, the privilege of a seat on the floor of the house, it at once becomes the duty of the sergeant-at-arms to show him into the lobby.

What Cooper Was Trying To Do.

From the Hilo Tribune.
It seems doubtful whether Cooper had little sense enough to suppose that he had any official business on the floor of the House or whether he had the nerve to try and make people believe he had that little sense. It is possible that the Legislature made a big rumpus over what was practically of little consequence; but it is quite certain that the principle underlying Cooper's action deserved the biggest kind of a rumpus; for what Cooper was trying to do was to perpetrate the control of the Executive over the Legislative branch of the Government, which prevailed under the so-called Republic.

ANSWERS THE PRAYERS OF THE SUFFERING LEPELERS

good condition. The Bishop Home for girls and helpless single women has 112 inmates. The Sisters in charge of the institution make a startling statement in regard to the difficulties besetting the operation of the home. They said that the principal difficulty they experienced was in preventing the girls from being seduced away from the home by the men of the leper colony who live beyond the influence of morality. Sister Marianne expressed herself very forcibly on the subject. The Baldwin Home for boys and helpless men was found to be in good condition. There were 121 residents. Brother Dutton who has devoted his life to the work of alleviating the suffering of others was himself sick for the first time in 16 years of service. The late storm did a great deal of damage to the trees and shrubberies of the home, but the wonderful executive power of Dutton has already done much to repair the damage. Senator Baldwin, the philanthropic founder and supporter of the home, was a member of the investigating committee and showed his interest in the splendid work of the home by making arrangements for some additions to the means of amusement for the inmates.

The leper reservation on Molokai is a terrible place. Situated with the waves of the Pacific on three sides and the perpendicular cliffs of the towering pali on the other it includes more physical misery than any spot of like size in the world. Whether the carelessness of the lepers is the result of natural indifference, as the result of their affliction, or whether it is a resignation to their fate, cannot be discovered from any investigation. All we know is that they seem happy from a superficial standpoint and that they say they need food and that they have a terrible way of appealing to one with their eyes while their tongues shape words which do not fit the expression of their faces.

The testimony taken at the investigation in regard to the conduct of the Board of Health store, where the leper trade was astounding. They swore that the prices charged at the store were twice and sometimes thrice the usual prices for even better goods in Honolulu. They swore that they were suspicious of the way the books of that institution were kept. They swore and it was admitted at the offices of the Board of Health that the profits from the settlement store was $2,700 during the time covered in the last biennial report.

Think of that! $2,700 of the money of the wards of the people. Wrung by them from the taro swamps at fifty cents a day. Wrung from them by the Board of Health without rhyme or reason, and because of their dire necessities.
